MISCELLANEOUS.

INDIGESTION.

I have been suffering for over two years with Dyspepsia, and for the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any meat without vomiting.

My life was a misery, and after our home physicians failed to benefit me, they advised removal to Colorado or California in the hope of relief.

I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator, which I did. I am now taking the second bottle, and would not express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good, and I digest everything thoroughly. Where I used to have a passage every four or five days, I now have regular daily evacuations of the bowels. I sleep well now, and I used to be very restless. I am fleshing up; good, strong food and Simmons Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in the hope of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did. I will take oath to these statements if desired.

The Record-Union is the only paper on the coast, outside of San Francisco, that receives the full Associated Press dispatches from all parts of the world. Outside of San Francisco it has no competitor, in point of numbers, in its home and general circulation throughout the coast.

SAN FRANCISCO AGENCIES.

The paper is for sale at the following places: L. P. Fisher, corner of Market and Montgomery streets; also Sole Advertising Agent for San Francisco, Grand and Palace Hotel, News Stand, Market Street Ferry and Junction of Market and Montgomery streets, New York.

Also, for sale on all trains leaving and coming into Sacramento.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

EASTERN.—The report that Mrs. Gerster had lost her voice and become insane, is denied. Commissioners have been appointed to examine the last twenty miles of the Oregon and California Railroad. An exhibition of work of a large number of artists is to be given at New York. The New York press generally considers the Apache movement an important factor in the politics of that city. Thirty-seven Apache children are at the Indian training-school at Carlisle, Pa. The Jerome Park managers will contest the anti-betting crusade against them. The Government will probably have a dynamite crisis built. August Britton, a well-known publisher is dead. De Lesseps called on the President yesterday. A prize-fight in New Jersey yesterday. Billy Dunn defeated Jack Smith in the third round. The next horse is probably Democratic. The Labor party is to organize a new campaign. A telegraph operator had an exciting affair with a lunatic. The Chicago strike has assumed a new and important aspect. Sir John Lubbock, a Mexican noble Lord for divorce. Most of the business portion of Duluth, N. B., is destroyed by fire. A bold expedition at Newcastle, Eng., killed six persons yesterday. Sir John Lubbock, a Mexican noble Lord for divorce. Most of the business portion of Duluth, N. B., is destroyed by fire. A bold expedition at Newcastle, Eng., killed six persons yesterday.

FOREIGN.—Lady Asquith has sued her noble Lord for divorce. Most of the business portion of Duluth, N. B., is destroyed by fire. A bold expedition at Newcastle, Eng., killed six persons yesterday. Sir John Lubbock, a Mexican noble Lord for divorce. Most of the business portion of Duluth, N. B., is destroyed by fire. A bold expedition at Newcastle, Eng., killed six persons yesterday.

PACIFIC COAST.—A son of Thomas Hart, aged 15 years, fell down a mine at Campionville yesterday and received fatal injuries. General Canine, a Mexican revolutionary leader, is on route to the Capital under guard. The county seat of Shasta is to be removed to Redding. Belle R. won the postponed race at San Francisco yesterday. Trouble with the Apache Chief, Mangus.

A PERMANENT EXHIBITION.

A movement is on foot among leading business and industrial influences to establish in this city a permanent exhibition of the products of the Sacramento valley and foothill region. We sincerely trust that it may be brought to realization. It is the one thing needed to supplement the immigration work now well under way. In conjunction with the movement, suggested by the Record-Union on Wednesday, regarding the reception and escort of arriving excursionists and homeseekers, it will round out and complete the duty we owe to ourselves in this matter of augmenting the population of the State by inducing the immigration of a desirable class of homeseekers. A permanent exhibition in this city, illustrative of the productive resources of Central and northern California, will be the most serviceable and direct method of advertising this section possible to be adopted.

The forthcoming Cims Fair should be the nucleus of the new exhibition, which ought to be put in place speedily, that the excursionists now weekly arriving may be taken to it and the whole productive capacity of valley and foothills be advantageously laid before them.

By the literature of production, climate, capacity, cost, scattered at the East, and by occasional exhibits there, supplemented by the excursion system, the drift of immigration is turned this way. But arriving here, the immigrant must travel over a large territory to spy out the land, and even then he cannot, in brief space of time, examine all products of the country. But if, on arrival at Sacramento, he can be taken into a suitable hall, where he can examine at leisure examples of all manner of products of the central and northern section of the State, he will in an hour gain a comprehensive idea of the capacity of our soil and climate. In this same exhibition the entire region treated would, of course, be represented, and, in fact, the headquarters of the Immigration Association, with competent officials in attendance to give information. Here, also, would be found lists of lands, public and private, open to sale and occupation.

The exhibits would, without any question, be furnished free of cost, and we are confident they would also be transported free to this city. The products that are of the perishable class would be renewed from week to week. The imperishable articles would accumulate, increase in variety and soon constitute a museum of products, thoroughly illustrative of all growth from our soil, of our mineral resources, our woods, clays, soils; so, too, the fauna and flora and the general natural history of the section would be represented in a brief time.

In short, this permanent exhibition would become the central resort of our people and their Eastern guests, where the whole productive value of Central and Northern California could be shown them. Here, too, would be the most convenient place for our citizens to meet strangers in fact the exhibition hall and rooms would become an immigration and land and produce "Exchange."

The cost of maintenance of such an exhibition would not be great. Whatever the cost, inside of a few thousand dollars, it would be a good investment and bring returns many fold. We need to awaken to the absolute necessity of missionary effort in our own behalf. If we will, we can add to the producing and consuming population contributing to Sacramento a hundred-fold within three years. If it is not done, there will be none to blame but ourselves.

We have here a climate that is unsurpassed for salubrity, healthfulness and general desirability for all manner of semi-tropical production, as well as for all the products of the temperate zones. We have soils unsurpassed in richness, and the rewards they return to the hands of the tillers. We have here all things adapted to building, for fuel, and for most of the industrial arts. We produce unquestionably the best fruit and grapes grown anywhere upon the continent, and are also unquestionably upon the eve of a solution of the problem of profitably marketing our limited fruit and vine products at the East. Our grain lands are not equalled, our area for the varied culture the broadest of that of any State, our climatic conditions not paralleled for excellence upon this continent. If now, to these attractions for homeseekers they come not, we may lay the blame at our own doors. It will be the case of the light under the bushel, or the talent hidden in the earth.

We have spoken upon this question very plainly. The simple truth is, that the few meager few—are doing all that is being done in the immigration movement. The many should engage in it. They will find a field for activity in this permanent exhibition movement. They will here have opportunity to contribute their proportion of cost, as they certainly will reap their share of profit. Indeed, the setting up and maintenance of a permanent exhibition might wisely be made a community charge under municipal patronage, and thus all taxable property to be benefited be legally listed for contribution. As a sound business investment, in connection with the work of the Immigration Association, now maintained from private purses, so well, or such full and speedy returns. Let us not lose this opportunity.

THE OLD PARTIES.

There are those, who upon the heels of every election, prophesy the disintegration and retracing of the old parties. The present case has proven no exception. The highways are plentifully supplied with these prophets to-day, who are loud and emphatic in their lugubrious forecasts. But we place little confidence in these speculations. Both the great parties will live. They are not for a day, but an age. The Democratic party will exist by virtue of its opposition to progressive movements, for there always must be such political organizations of a reactionary character. The Republican party will exist by virtue of its historical basis, and because of its reformatory and progressive character. Both parties may suffer modifications, adapting themselves to new conditions and changing social conditions, and recognizing political protests by the people, but the cohesive power of neither will fail. The efforts to form new parties must proceed upon untried theories and without the strength of tradition. It is useless to say that past records count for nothing. It is true that upon a party's past it cannot alone live, but by a history in which it can take honest pride it is largely fortified. The great parties will not dissolve; they will prove their right to exist by grappling with social needs and living issues on the one hand, and by a conservatism on the other that will always, in greater or less degree, take the form of opposition to intolerant organization. It is inconceivable that the Republican party, for instance, will melt away at the demand for a party that is to be based upon class distinctions, or that the Democratic party will yield its traditions, to a new candidate for favor that proposes to array all the foreign-born citizens upon one side of the political battle-field and the native-born upon the other. Nor is it at all likely, despite recent rebukes, that it will abandon its ingrained free-trade doctrines or cease its opposition to the political policy of the Republican party. The old parties will exist, they will be chief actors in many a Presidential election to come, and the prophecies of their death or merger into new organizations will not be fulfilled in any near future. They are too closely knit into the life of the nation and too intimately related to its most stirring history to be stricken out of existence suddenly. The Republican party by its recent triumphs in the East testifies to a degree of vitality wholly at war with the idea of decay, or the fulfillment of a mission. As representative of the most intelligent and progressive and courageous thought of the day, it will continue to be the medium of its expression and to prove equal to the needs of the hour. Where influences dominate that tend to weaken it, there it is undergoing a purifying process that is augmenting its strength and intensifying its vital tendency. None of the side movements are likely to supplant it, but that some of them may influence it to the enlargement of its policy, or to the recognition of new ideas, is not improbable. The antagonists of these parties will naturally drift into the Democratic party, while those who would build up parties on "one idea" will continue to project their extremist movements into political contention with varying success at the polls. But the idea that the two old parties will yield the political battle-ground to them speedily, if at all, is not sustained by reason.

The vote for Henry George in New York is not to be ignored, nor will it be. The political wisdom of the existing great parties will not close its eyes to the movement, nor will it retreat before it. So far will we believe, meet it fearlessly, according to reasonable demands, and courageously resisting foolish and impracticable ones. The Democratic party may expect to trim for votes, and to play the demagogue to attain to power. Out of over 218,000 votes in New York Henry George received nearly one-third, cast in direct opposition to two of the strongest men the old parties could present. But what will be the result? The broader recognition by the Republican and Democratic parties of the labor organizations and labor forces. The Republican party may look to meet these forces with reason and upon principle, and, we believe, with the result of commanding the respect of the most thoughtful and intelligent of the labor classes. Those adhering to the fanciful ideas of Mr. George will drift with him into socialist currents, which Republicanism will unfalteringly stem. It has not failed in any emergency yet, nor will it. Within it are the chief forces that have preserved this nation, and that will continue to be the bulwark of the laws, and of human rights. It is, and will remain the friend of industry, the conservator of the best citizenship, the protector of the weak against the strong, the champion of the broadest liberty and the stay of honest labor and full wages, and the inalienable rights of free men.

Is the excitement of the campaign the citrus fair movement suffered. Now that the election is over let all the people of Central and Northern California, unite to make the coming exhibit so complete and meaning as to awaken the attention of the whole country to the climatic advantages of this section. The time is brief and labor must be rapid and earnest to this end.

If they indulge in any more terrible torments in the brisk and breezy West, Horace Greeley's famous admonition will be modified to "Go West, young man, and blow up with the country."

"My good man," said the philanthropist to the young man, "do you never have cause to grumble at your position?" "No, sir," was the answer, "I took my pick at the start."

A man was boasting that he had an elevator in his house. "So he has," came the reply, "and he keeps it in a cupboard in his wife's."

STATE ELECTION.

Partial Returns—Completed Plurality Returns—Calculations.

From a great mass of precinct returns, which, given in full, would only be intelligible after long and intricate calculation by the reader, we gather these news facts and probabilities regarding leading candidates. Where not marked complete, the returns are as far as counted up to 1:30 this morning.

Alameda—Markleville, Swift 25, Bartlett 25. Amador—Bartlett 72 majority. One Republican Assemblyman and one Democratic Senator with Calaveras. Alameda—Complete, Swift 5,515, Bartlett 3,882.
